Your work is a calling from God.

It's true—no matter the title you have or the job you do, your work is ordained by God. And the same goes for the people you lead. But it can be difficult to see our work through God's eyes, especially when our work feels unspiritual.

If you're looking for more ways to help Christians in your workplace see God's purpose for their work, consider attending this Virtual Work as Worship Retreat in May with friends. Thousands of Christian business professionals will come together for this online streaming event to hear how to connect their faith and work from leaders like John Maxwell, Henry Cloud, and more. We'd love to have you join us.
